

The lawyers in our Business & Finance Department frequently counsel closely-held business owners who are approaching retirement about the options available to them. This advice includes consideration of the succession planning techniques that are available to a closely-held business owner who desires to transition ownership and/or management of his or her business to family members and/or existing employees of the business, as well as outside options that may be presented to the business owners, such as the sale of the closely-held business to an outside party.

If you desire to learn more about these services, please contact Paul T. Rushton, the Chair of our Business & Finance Department, or one of the other attorneys in our Business & Finance Department. Paul can be reached at 570-826-5623 or prushton@rjglaw.com.
