

For this week's Community Involvement Spotlight, we recognize Paul Rushton's service with United Way of Wyoming Valley and the important work they do to combat childhood poverty in our area.

Through their signature initiatives, their partner agencies, and the efforts of countless volunteers, UWWV improves the lives of children and families throughout the Wyoming Valley. To accomplish this, they primarily focus on the areas of education, financial stability, health and safety. Their programs help children prepare for and succeed in school, help families achieve greater financial stability, improve the health of those in our community, and address more immediate threats by ensuring children and families have access to food, shelter, clothing and other essential services. Their work directly impacts the community, starting with our most vulnerable members: children.

Paul currently serves as a Member of United Way of Wyoming Valley's Board of Directors and a Member of their Governance Committee.
