

Did you know that slip and fall accidents are a common type of personal injury case? They can occur almost anywhere, in either public or private places. They can happen in stores, malls, restaurants, hotels and apartment buildings, to name just a few examples. Many occur because stairways are not properly maintained, or proper handrails are not provided. They can also happen outside, for example in parking lots or on sidewalks, driveways or handicap ramps. The legal approach your lawyer will take will depend on the facts involved. However the fall may occur, it is important to promptly contact an experienced personal injury lawyer so that evidence can be obtained before it is lost forever. At Rosenn Jenkins & Greenwald, we have in-depth knowledge and experience in handling Pennsylvania premises liability cases.
